The RECAP

April 2009

PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

Larry Matheny

2009 is certainly off to a great start. The February Winter Sectional set attendance records, our monthly unit games continue to attract new players, and our local games are healthy. Looking ahead, we are in the process of organizing a 'Challenge' match with the Boulder unit. The details are not in place but we hope to have a two-session event in August with both pairs and team play. More on this as it develops.

We continue to look for ways to improve bridge in Northern Colorado. We said goodbye to the aging Elks club, home to many of our games for decades. We also moved the unit games to a larger, air-conditioned facility in Fort Collins. The mentor games held on 5th Mondays and Wednesdays are very popular. If you haven't attended one of these games, please contact a club manager for details. On the education front, more classes are available than ever before and interest continues to grow.

Please support your local clubs and, as always, please contact any of your board members with suggestions or concerns.

EDUCATION

By Andrea French

The Northern Colorado Bridge Unit 363 is a community of learners.

Our novice and intermediate players have been eager to take part in many opportunities to improve their game. This has occurred in both formal and informal settings.

Previous issues of the RECAP have described some of the formal bridge courses taught by our own players including Julie Larson in Fort Collins, Dick Webster at the Senior Center in Loveland, Curt Cramer at the Senior Center in Fort Collins, and John Krueger in Estes Park. All of these instructors report record numbers of attendees in their classes. This highlights the fact that bridge is alive and continuing to grow in Northern Colorado.

In addition to these more formal settings there are numerous other learning opportunities that take place in our unit. Some of these include:

-A mentor program with games on months with 5th Mondays and Wednesdays. At these games no life masters are able to play together which encourages them to play with a newer player. Since these mentor games have begun, there has been an increase in more experienced players partnering with newer players in just regular club games. Kudos go to these well-seasoned players for encouraging growth in the unit.

-There is a lesson before all of our single session Saturday Unit Games. Larry Matheny and other experienced players provide lessons based on suggestions made by unit players. These lessons are designed for all level of players and are well attended.

-Prior to the 199er game on the third Thursday of each month, Larry Matheny has provided the newer player with additional learning opportunities. After an informal salon, a structured play session is offered. Two pre-made boards are dealt and the players bid, play and defend. After the hands there is a review.

-Newer players also have a virtual learning opportunity. Marilyn Pultz provides a weekly e-mail bidding quiz to all interested players. Once you've sent in your answer Marilyn responds with an analysis of the bidding.

-Many of the intermediate players have requested more information on the 2 over 1 approach to bidding. To meet this need, Neil Petrie offered a 3-session workshop on 2 over 1 and other bidding issues. These classes met before the Saturday game in Greeley. Students then played in the game following the session. After the game, Neil was available to discuss some of the hands.

As any bridge player will tell you – there is always more to learn and in Northern Colorado there are always those wanting to learn more!

DID YOU KNOW

By Dawn Fultz

DID YOU KNOW that the law pertaining to revoked tricks has changed?

There is still a two-trick penalty when the revoking player won the trick on which the revoke occurred AND his side won any subsequent tricks. There is a one-trick penalty where the revoking player did not win the revoke trick, but his side did win subsequent tricks. The change in the Laws involves the second-trick penalty if a trick is won by a card that could have been played on the revoke trick. This is no longer part of the penalty requirement.

By definition there cannot be a revoke on trick 12.

There are a number of other subtleties regarding rectification that remain unchanged. The director is still responsible for restoring equity if the penalty is insufficient. For example, the revoke may prevent running a long suit that would have otherwise run. In this case equity is restored.

This information is in Law 64: Procedure After Establishment of a Revoke, which is printed in its entirety on page 38 of the November Bridge Bulletin.

THE PRACTICE FINESSE

By Larry Matheny

The good declarer will take only those finesses that are necessary. However, there are others who cannot resist temptation and feel they need the practice. Take a look at a hand that sent North scurrying to the partnership desk.

Scoring: Matchpoints (Pairs)

Hand #1	♠ 952
Dir E	♥ QJ93
Vul E/W	♦ J2
	♣ AQJ3
♠ KQ10		♠ A873	West	North	East	South
♥ 54		♥ 10			Pass	1♥
♦ K1087		♦ 96543	Pass	3♥	Pass	4♥
♣ K986		♣ 1052	Pass	Pass	Pass
	♠ J64
	♥ AK8762
	♦ AQ
	♣ 74

BIDDING: North invited game and South accepted.

PLAY: West led the king of spades and East encouraged with the eight. West continued with the queen of spades and East won the third round with the ace. Next, East switched to a low diamond and without much thought, declarer played the queen and was down one when the finesse lost. This was not good bridge. It didn't matter where the diamond king was, the contract depended upon finding the king of clubs in the West hand. When that finesse succeeded, a repeat club finesse would allow declarer to discard his diamond loser on the ace of clubs. This was not difficult and declarer should have understood the contract depended upon the king of clubs before he played to trick one. This shows the importance of playing the hand, not the suit.

North looked at his scorecard, sighed, and thought: "Only 25 more hands".

BRIDGE FOR NEW PLAYERS

Quick Tips for Improving Your Bridge Game

From Karen Walker's Library

When you're declarer:

Don't play to the first trick too quickly. Force yourself to stop and think when dummy hits.

Concentrate on the opening lead for a few seconds so you'll remember it later. Decide what it tells you about the leader's length or strength in that suit.

Mentally review the bidding. If one of your opponents has bid, try to come up with a general picture of his point-count and his length in the suit bid.

For most suit contracts, your general plan should be:

- 1 - Count your losers. Decide which ones can be disposed of or turned into winners (by trumping, by finessing or by discarding them on a side suit).
- 2 - If your plan calls for trumping one or more of your losers in the short-trump hand (usually dummy), do that before you lead trumps -- even if you have to give up tricks to set up the trumping position.
- 3 - Next, lead out your trumps, counting as the opponents follow to each trick. (This will usually be your best approach if you have good honor strength and/or length in one or more of the outside suits.)
- 4 - Attack your longest side suit. Give up your losers early.
- 5 - Last, cash honors in your short suits.

For most notrump contracts, your general plan should be:

- 1 - Count your winners. If you don't have enough top tricks to make your contract, decide which suit offers you the best chance of creating more winners.
- 2 - Attack that suit first (it will usually be your longest side suit). Give up the tricks you have to lose early.
- 3 - Stick with one suit at a time. Keep leading it until you've established your tricks (counting the defenders' cards as you go), and then cash your winners in the suit. When you move to a different suit, start counting again.
- 4 - Last, cash honors in your short suits.

When you're a defender:

Lead attacking combinations (suits with touching honors -- QJ10x, KQxx, etc.).

Don't lead unsupported aces (Ax, Axx, Axxx) unless it's the suit partner has bid.

When in doubt about what to lead, lead the fourth-best card in your longest suit. Leading from length is the "standard" lead to a notrump contract, and it's often the safest lead to a suit contract.

Count cards and points as you play. Use clues from the bidding, the opening lead and the play to try to come up with a mental picture of partner's or declarer's hand.

Think ahead and be ready for critical plays. Indecision will often tell declarer what you hold in a suit, so try to decide in advance which card you'll play when declarer leads a suit toward or from dummy.

Use defensive signals to help partner during the play:

1. When discarding or following suit, signal with the highest card possible in a suit you want partner to lead. Play a low card if you have no interest in the suit.
2. When following suit, use count signals to help partner figure out how many cards you hold in the suit. Playing high-low in a suit tells partner you have an even number of cards. Playing low, then high shows an odd number of cards.

When you're bidding:

Always search for a major suit fit if one is possible, even if you've already found a minor fit. If you have a 4-card major you can show at the one-level, it's usually right to bid it.

Consider playing 3NT instead of 5C of 5D when you have the strength for game, but your only fit is in a minor suit.

If you have length in the opponent's suit and are in doubt about what to bid, pass. Don't show your problem by thinking too long about what to do.

Keep the bidding simple. If you have a fit for partner's major, always raise.

If you have a fit for partner's suit, "stretch" to raise, especially in a competitive auction. If you have extra trumps (one more than you need for an 8-card fit), feel free to compete to the 3-level if the opponents bid over your 2-level partscore.

Always assume partner has a minimum until he tells you otherwise. A minimum range is 13-15 pts. if partner opened the bidding; 6-9 pts. if he responded to your opening bid.

If you have a minimum hand (12-14 pts. for opener, 6-9 or 10 pts. for responder), keep the bidding low until you find a fit. Don't go past the one-level unless:

1. You're raising partner's suit.
2. You're rebidding your own long suit.
3. You're bidding a second suit that's lower in rank than your first suit (1D by you-1S by partner-2C by you) or (1D-1S-1NT-2H).

Once you've decided to raise partner's suit, rebid your own long suit or bid notrump, be sure you show your point-count by bidding at the proper level:

1. If you know you have 25 combined points, jump to game in your suit or notrump. Don't give partner a chance to pass.
2. If you have an invitational hand (16-18 pts if you're opener; 10-12 pts. if you're responder) and you think you and partner might have 25+ points, make your bid one level higher than necessary. This usually means you'll freely take the auction to 2NT or 3 of your suit.
3. If you have a minimum hand, show it by making your bid at the lowest level available.
